COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course explores literacy and culture in the secondary content area classroom. We examine how literacy tools are used to support students' engagement of ideas in the disciplines. Special attention is paid to the diversity of students; that is, students bring diverse linguistic and cultural backgrounds to the content area classroom, which affects teaching and learning success. Teachers in all content area classes play an important role in the literacy development of students. This course provides theoretical principles of literacy development, the nature of "text," and processes and practices related to teaching students in ways that support their comprehension and composition processes as they engage ideas in the classes you will teach.

Schools provide a rich setting in which to highlight and examine the cultural and social identities of students and their approach to literacy in the content areas. We will be involved actively in planning ways to use literacy for the construction of content area knowledge.

To meet 21st Century literacy demands, students need to be proficient in a variety of literacies. All students deserve frequent opportunities to read, write, listen, speak and view quality instruction as part of their learning of content area subject matter. Teachers who provide explicit instruction and opportunities to practice content-specific literacy tasks help students become independent learners.

Course Objectives

The following underlined objectives are the Big Ideas around which this course is organized. Related Success Criteria (SC)/teaching standards--what you are expected to be able to do as a result of interacting with the conceptual--are listed. These success criteria correspond to the Professional Teaching Standards (InTASC Model Core Teaching Standards from the Arizona Department of Education) and ISTE NETS-T Standards (related to advancing digital age teaching and adopted as standards by the Arizona Department of Education).

In parentheses are the course assignments that are designed to help you to engage the concepts and success criteria around which this course is designed. In addition, the D2L discussion groups are opportunities for you to reflect on each of the concepts and goals below, their relationship to course content, and your personal knowledge and experiences. Further, course readings and class discussions are also related to the concepts and performance objectives/standards.

Course Objective	Success Criteria	Standards
1. Literacy is the use of language tools (speaking, reading, writing) in different contexts to construct meaning, to communicate, and to evaluate experience. a. Literacy is relative; one may be literate in one context, or one culture, and not literate in another. b. The content area educator provides a context for students to learn to become literate in the culture and discourse of that content area. c. A teacher's literacy-related experiences and values regarding schooling and literacy affects his/her stance toward promoting literacy.	Success Criteria 1 (SC 1): The teacher creates developmentally appropriate instruction that takes into account individual learners' strengths, interests, and needs and that enables each learner to advance and accelerate his/her learning. Required Course Texts

Alvermann, D. E., Gillis, V. R. & Phelps, S. F. (2013). Content area reading and literacy: Succeeding in today's diverse classrooms (7th Ed). Upper Saddle River, NJ: Pearson.

Buehl, D. (2008). Classroom strategies for interactive learning (4th Ed). Newark, Delaware: International Reading Association.

Fisher, D. & Frey, N. (2008). Improving adolescent literacy: Content area strategies at work (3rd Ed.). New York, NY: Pearson, Merrill Prentice Hall.

Dr. Kaplan will provide additional course readings. All additional readings will be posted in a module on D2L.

Additionally, you will be asked to locate a grade appropriate text that you would use with students to support their mastery of content area literacy skills related to the content in the unit you design for Phase 1 of the portfolio signature assignment. The chosen text may not be a poem, play, or sheet of music. You will analyze this text in Phase 2 and you will create before, during, and after reading activities with this text for Phase 5. You will also create two literacy based lessons that focus on this text in Phase 8. This text could be a novel, a picture book with text, a short excerpt, a speech, etc. The possibilities for this text are limited only to your imagination. More about the selection of this text will be discussed in class on June 12th and in a video that I will post to Module 8 by June 19th. An example of Phase 2 is also provided in Module 6. Please do not attempt to locate this text until the video discussion is posted in Chandler on June 12th.

Finally, you will become a member of an adolescent literature group in which each of you reads the same book that centers on a culture different from your own. Together you will create a presentation that reveals how the book might potentially impact your future teaching with students who are not from your own cultural background. More information about choosing this book and the presentation will be provided in class.

COURSE FORMAT

Most days this class will take place online. You will be expected to participate and complete activities everyday on-line and submit them to the class D2L dropbox by 11:59 pm on the due date.

However, for two days (June 12 & 26) our class will be held at the UofA classroom in Chandler. Each of these two classes will consist of learning experiences designed to provide opportunities to apply and construct course understandings and for me to model effective instructional, learning and student engagement strategies that develop students' content area literacy skills. It is vital that you are in attendance at each of these two class sessions.

Major Formative & Summative Assignments

Formative Experiences

Formative experiences are those engagements, activities, and experiences that contribute to forming course understandings. They allow me to monitor and adjust instruction and they provide you with information regarding your progress toward the learning goals and Big Ideas of this class. Each formative assignment with the exception of the on-line discussions must be uploaded to D2L. All assignments except the on-line discussions can be revised within 3 days of receiving feedback to receive full points.

1. Planning Portfolio. (InTASC: 1-8; ISTE NETS-T: 1, 2, 3) This is a benchmark assignment for the course. You must pass the assignment to pass LRC 535. A passing grade is defined as an average score of "2" or above (across all categories) on the grading rubric.

Each phase must be completed and approved prior to submitting the next phase. Complete descriptions of each phase can be found in the Planning Portfolio Phase Descriptions document located in Start Here module of our class D2L site. Examples can be found of each phase in the Example of the Phases module.

Each phase is worth 40 points for a total of 320 points toward your final formative grade.

Once I have approved each phase of the portfolio, you can then include it in your planning portfolio notebook (see summative assessments section of the syllabus). You must use Times New Roman and size 12 font for each phase.

- Phase One: Title, Big Ideas/Essential Questions, Learning Goals, Success Criteria, State Standards
- Phase Two: Getting to Know Your Students
- Phase Three: Analysis of Selected Text
- Phase Four: Vocabulary & Before, During and After Reading Strategies
- Phase Five: Groupworthy Tasks
- Phase Six: Formative and Summative Assessments
- Phase Seven: Resource Chart
- Phase Eight: Lesson Plans

Once a phase has been completed and uploaded to the dropbox on D2l, you will receive feedback. If the phase needs to be revised, you will have 3 days to complete the revisions and resubmit. Your grade for the phase will be based on the revisions. If the revisions are not completed within 3 days, your grade for the phase will be based on the first dropbox submission.

I will guide you through each phase. Please do not try to begin a phase until instruction on that phase has occurred.

Rubric for Assessing the Planning Portfolio (Benchmark)

2. A Literacy & Learning Memoir. (InTASC: 1, 2, 5; ISTE NETS-T: 1) Write an essay (about 5 pages) describing the role literacy played in learning something of significance in your life. As appropriate, use class discussions, readings, and engagements to interpret and explain the significance of the experience being remembered. Address, at a minimum, the following questions: Describe the event: Why was this event significant? What role did reading/writing play have an influence on you? Could this experience have been better? If so, how? Make connections between what is being learned in this class and that experience. The memoir should have a title, and be typed double spaced with 1” margins all around (turn in on D2L). The memoir is worth 50 points toward your final formative grade. You must use Times New Roman and size 12 font.

See the Literacy Resources module for a memoir example and a reading by Dr. Anders that has an explanation of a literacy memoir. You will also find the rubric for the memoir as well as further instructions for writing the memoir in the Literacy Resources module.

Adolescent Literature. (InTASC: 1, 2, 5) Read one of the suggested adolescent literature books representing a culture different from your own. A list of potential literature books can be found in Adolescent Literature Resources module. Literature groups of students reading the same book will be formed on July 11th. You will need to locate the literature book in a local library, bookstore, or on the Internet. However, please do not attempt to find a title until after we meet on July 11th.

Your group will create a conference style PowerPoint poster using the prompts on pages 9 and 10. I will provide you examples of conferences posters as well as a PowerPoint template of the poster. One person from your group will upload the group’s poster to D2L. I will then place each poster on the News page of our D2L class site.

Once your group has uploaded your PowerPoint poster and I have placed it on the News section of our D2L site, you will then individually look at each poster and create a response to this question: Based on the posters, what connections can you make between culture, discourse and literacy?

Additionally, you will be asked to rate your level of participation as well as those of your group members toward participating in the preparation of the PowerPoint Presentation. This will help build in individual and group accountability.

The PowerPoint poster together with your individual participation rating is worth 50 points toward your final formative grade.

The following prompts must be addressed by your group on your PowerPoint poster

- a) Why did your group chose to read this particular book?
- b) Summary of the plot
- c) What insights did your group gain about the culture portrayed in the book that you did not have prior to reading the book?
- d) How might these insights about the culture portrayed in the book impact teaching and learning
- e) What new insights have you gained about literacy and primary and secondary Discourses as a result of reading this book?
- f) What connections can you make between this book and other course readings?
- g) Based on your reading of this book, why is it important to be aware of students' background experiences and prior knowledge?
- h) What other thoughts do you want to share about the book and teaching content area literacy skills?
- i) References

3. In Class Assignments. During Summer Session 1, there will be a variety of other assignments that will help guide teaching and learning. Each of these assignments will be worth 25.

Summative Experiences – All summative assessments will be due on July 29th by 11:59 in the D2l dropbox. No late summative assessments will be accepted.

Summative experiences provide an opportunity to integrate, synthesize, and evaluate course learning.

1. 1) Planning Portfolio & Reflection. (InTASC: 1-8; ISTE NETS-T: 1, 2, 3) In a binder, you will organize all 8 phases of the planning portfolio and the portfolio reflection (described below). Bring the portfolio binder to class on the day of the scheduled course final to share with your peers and to turn in. The portfolio binder is a professional resource that you might use when student teaching or in future teaching, or for an interview for your first teaching position; as such, the e-portfolio must include dividers and be professionally presented.

See the description of the Portfolio Phases document located in the Start Here module for specific instructions for creating your final e-portfolio. The final e-portfolio is worth 360 points.

2) Portfolio Reflection

Your e-portfolio concludes with your reflection of the portfolio experience. This reflection is worth 60 points toward your summative grade. Below are the reflection prompts. Each response must be at least 1 page long and written using Times New Roman and size 12 font.

The portfolio reflection will be due along with the electronic portfolio on July 29, 2016 by 11:59pm in the D2l dropbox.

1. What is your best piece of work in this portfolio and why?
2. If you had the chance to revise a phase, which phase would you choose and why?
3. Discuss the learning that occurred for you as you created the phases and how this learning might impact your future teaching.

3. Course Reflection: This reflection is worth 100 points toward your summative grade. Each response to the prompts below must be at least 2 pages in length and written using Times New Roman and size 12 font. The course reflection will be due on July 29, 2016 by 11:59pm in the D2l dropbox.

Review and consider the objectives for this course. Review the engagement strategies modeled in class, the course readings, assignments, and class discussions. Then choose 3 of the courses' Big Ideas from this syllabus and discuss the learning that occurred for you in each area by answering the following questions for each Big Idea:

1. Describe the learning that occurred for you. What about the course did you find to be particularly helpful in regards to this particular Big Idea? What did you find less helpful? In what ways? 3 page minimum

Then respond to prompt 2:

2. Discuss the commitment you have as a teacher for incorporating content area literacy and your discipline. What do you plan on doing to support students' content area literacy skills as a future teacher as a result of this course 2 page minimum

Each response should be doubled space pages using Time New Roman font 12. Be sure to include in text citations and a reference page. This is a formal piece of academic writing. You must use APA formatting.

Take Note:

You should keep a course calendar regarding due dates and assignments up to date since adjustments will more than likely be made as I monitor and adjust my teaching and your learning. As educators, we must learn to embrace ambiguity. Very little in our field is set in concrete. As such, I will consistently collect formative data that will allow me to make necessary adjustments to assignments and due dates.

Teaching and learning is a dynamic process. As a future teacher, you must learn to be flexible regarding the unique academic needs of your current students so their learning is maximized and they have multiple opportunities to come to understand the content and be able to apply it in new and novel ways. I will model this throughout the summer. This is considered to be a best practice in the field of education.

Major Assignments and Due Dates

1. Phase 1 – July 14th
2. Phase 2 – July 17th
3. Phase 3 – July 19th

Grades

Formative grades are averaged and a percentage computed. Summative grades are averaged and a percentage computed. Your final grade is the average of formative and summative grades provided that all assignment requirements have been met for a specific grade band. If you meet the percentage requirements for a particular grade band, but not the assignment or attendance requirements, then your grade will be dropped to the next letter grade.

Percentages and assignment requirements for a grade band are as follows:

1. All assignments completed and perfect attendance in plus an average summative and formative grade of 90-100 = A
2. 1 missing assignment and perfect attendance plus an average summative and formative grade of 80-89 = B
3. 2 to 3 missing assignments or one absence plus an average summative and formative grade of 70-79 = C
4. four missing assignments or 1 or more absences plus an average summative and formative grade of 60-69 = D
5. more than 4 missing assignments, or 3 absences = E

Please note, that you cannot earn a grade of A if you are missing any formative or summative assignments. Late work will not be accepted unless arrangements for completing the assignment have been made with Dr. Kaplan prior to the due date of the assignment.

Course Policies.

Syllabus Policy

The syllabus for this course is subject to negotiation and change; grade and absence policies will not be changed. Talk with the Dr. Kaplan about any concerns you might have regarding the syllabus for this course.

Incompletes and Grade Dispute Policy

Requests for incompletes (I) and withdrawal (W) must be made in accordance with University policies which are available at <http://catalog.arizona.edu/2015-16/policies/grade.htm#I> and <http://catalog.arizona.edu/2015-16/policies/grade.htm#W> respectively.

Dispute of Grade: Provide the acceptable time period for disputing a grade on a paper, project, or exam.

Attendance Policy

In accordance with University policy, attendance is mandatory. Students are expected to arrive on time and attend all classes. Attendance full participation in class is expected. The class group will not grow as fully if you are not there. Your active participation and perspectives are vital to the group's growth in professional knowledge. Since we only have 2 class times that we meet together in person, your attendance at each is expected and required.

Please sign in when you enter class. It is expected that everyone is prepared to discuss the readings, share written work, and work actively with others in small groups. Often there will be in-class assignments based on the readings that cannot be made up if class is missed.

All holidays or special events observed by organized religions will be honored for those students who are affiliated with that particular religion. Absences approved by the UA Dean of Students (or Dean's designee) will be honored.

Uof A Absence and Class Participation Policy

The UA's policy concerning Class Attendance, Participation, and Administrative Drops is available at: <http://catalog.arizona.edu/2015-16/policies/classatten.htm>

The UA policy regarding absences for any sincerely held religious belief, observance or practice will be accommodated where reasonable, <http://policy.arizona.edu/human-resources/religious-> accommodation-policy.

Absences pre-approved by the UA Dean of Students (or Dean Designee) will be honored. See: <http://uhap.web.arizona.edu/policy/appointed-personnel/7.04.02>

Assignment Due Dates Policy

Late work will not be accepted unless arrangements prior to the due date have been made with Dr. Kaplan. Please be aware that you cannot earn a grade of A if you have any missing formative or summative assignments. See page 10 of the syllabus for more information regarding grades.

Work on the 8 phases can be revised based on the feedback provided by Dr. Kaplan. You will have 3 days from the date feedback is provided in the dropbox section of D2l to revise a phase. If the phase is not revised within three days of receiving the feedback, the work will be graded based on the first date the phase was uploaded to D2l. It is imperative that you check the dropbox for feedback daily once an assignment has been submitted.

Classroom Behavior Policy

To foster a positive learning environment, students and instructors have a shared responsibility. We want a safe, welcoming and inclusive environment where all of us feel comfortable with each other and where we can challenge ourselves to succeed. To that end, our focus is on the tasks at hand and not on extraneous activities (i.e. texting, chatting, reading a newspaper, making phone calls, web surfing, etc).

Students are asked to refrain from disruptive conversations with people sitting around them during lecture. Students observed engaging in disruptive activity will be asked to cease this behavior. Those who continue to disrupt the class will be asked to leave lecture or discussion and may be reported to the Dean of Students.

Threatening Behavior Policy

The UA Threatening Behavior by Students Policy prohibits threats of physical harm to any member of the University community, including to one's self. See: <http://policy.arizona.edu/education-and-student-affairs/threatening-behavior-students>.

Accessibility and Accommodations

Our goal in this classroom is that learning experiences be as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience physical or academic barriers based on disability, please let me know immediately so that we can discuss options. You are also welcome to contact Disability Resources (520-621-3268) to establish reasonable accommodations. For additional information on Disability Resources and reasonable accommodations, please visit <http://drc.arizona.edu/>.

If you have reasonable accommodations, please plan to meet with me by appointment or during office hours to discuss accommodations and how my course requirements and activities may impact your ability to fully participate.

Please be aware that the accessible table and chairs in this room should remain available for students who find that standard classroom seating is not usable.

Code of Academic Integrity

Students are encouraged to share intellectual views and discuss freely the principles and applications of course materials. However, graded work/exercises must be the product of independent effort unless otherwise instructed. Students are expected to adhere to the UA Code of Academic Integrity as described in the UA General Catalog. See:

<http://deanofstudents.arizona.edu/academic-integrity/students/academic-integrity>.

The University Libraries have some excellent tips for avoiding plagiarism available at:

<http://www.library.arizona.edu/help/tutorials/plagiarism/index.html>.

Selling class notes and/or other course materials to other students or to a third party for resale is not permitted without the instructor's express written consent. Violations to this and other course rules are subject to the Code of Academic Integrity and may result in course sanctions. Additionally, students who use D2L or UA email to sell or buy these copyrighted materials are subject to Code of Conduct Violations for misuse of student email addresses. This conduct may also constitute copyright infringement.

UA Nondiscrimination and Anti-harassment Policy

The University is committed to creating and maintaining an environment free of discrimination,

<http://policy.arizona.edu/human-resources/nondiscrimination-and-anti-harassment-policy>

Our classroom is a place where everyone is encouraged to express well-formed opinions and their reasons for those opinions. We also want to create a tolerant and open environment where such opinions can be expressed without resorting to bullying or discrimination of others.
